

Contents

Shannon Wells-Lassagne and Eckart Voigts
Neo-Victorian Adaptations – Introduction ..... 1

Gender and Sexuality in Neo-Victorian Screen Narratives

Andrea Kirchknopf
Mary Morstan: A Cure to the Antifeminist Bias of the BBC Sherlock? ..... 15

Michela Iannucci
Sarah Waters' Affinity on Screen: Adapting the Neo-Victorian Queer ..... 31

Ela İpek Gündüz
The Piano: a Neo-Victorian Specula(risa)tion..... 41

Otherness: Other Victorians – Other Adaptations

Robbie McAllister
Punking the Machine: Steampunk Hollywood
and the Adaptive Practices of a Grave-Robbing Genre ..... 55

Juan-José Martín-González
Adapting Victorian Gypsies for the Screen:
Ethnicity, Otherness and Invisibility in Neo-Victorian Popular Film..... 67

Shannon Wells-Lassagne
Picturing Dorian Gray: Portrait of an Adaptation..... 81

Margarida Esteves Pereira
Victorian Fiction on the Global Screen:
The Case of Michael Winterbottom's Thomas Hardy ..... 95

Ruxandra Trandafoiu and Carol Poole
Metamodern Spaces of Production and Network Keeping in Vanity Fair (ITV 2018) ..... 107

A Case Study – Neo-Victorian Mashup: *Penny Dreadful

Dietmar Böhnke

The ‘Grand Guignol’ Approach to Adapting the Victorians: Penny Dreadful and the Multiple Adaptations of Globalised Popular Neo-Victorianism ..... 123

Ana Cristina Mendes

The Cumulative Victorian and Neo-Victorian Fandoms of Penny Dreadful... 141

Matthew VanWinkle

“Is the Language Not Rich with Felicity of Expression?”:
Penny Dreadful, Romantic Poetry, and the Limits of the Neo-Victorian ..... 155

Sophie Mantrant

Jack the Ripper in the Age of Trauma:
Ethan Chandler in Penny Dreadful, Season One ..... 169