

Contents

List of Figures.....	vii
Acknowledgements.....	ix
Swantje van Mark and Norbert Lennartz
Transgression in Romanticism: Some Introductory Remarks	1
Richard Lansdown
Appetite and Deeds, War and the Will: Faustian Transgression in Byron's The Deformed Transformed	9
Diego Saglia
Of Flesh and Boundaries: Transgressing Gaps and Orifices in Romantic Orientalism	25
Marvin Reimann
Byron's The Giaour : Dismantling the Boundaries between Orient and Occident through Romantic Irony.....	41
Sophia Möllers
The Historian Turned Anatomist of the Soul: Tracing Transgressive Psychology in William Godwin's Mandeville	59
Alexandra Böhm
Transgressive Encounters: Sympathy with Animals in John Aikin and Anna Laetitia Barbauld's Evenings at Home and Samuel Taylor Coleridge's "Rime of the Ancyent Marinere".....	71
Ian Duncan
Imps of the Perverse: Romantic Fiction and Antinomian Denial.....	91
Alexander Schlutz
"A poor, imprisoned animal." Persons, Property, and the Unnatural Nature of the Law in E.T.A. Hoffmann's The Entail	103

Sebastian Domsch

Transgressing (Story)Worlds: Polidori, Byron, and The Vampyre..... 115

Jonathan Gross

"No hopes for them as laughs": William Beckford in the Margins of Robert Southey's and Lord Byron's Visions of Judgement 125

Denise Gigante

Transgressing the Sacred Frontier of Culture..... 147

Richard C. Sha

Can Transgression Be Meaningful Even After It Is Required or Expected? 165

Nicholas Roe

Transgressive Biography 183

Kasahara Yorimichi

Croly's Dying Warrior:
The Roman Gladiator That Crossed the Boundary and Turned into Arminius 199

List of Contributors..... 213